

HARDING ASKS DEFERMENT OF BONUS BILL

President Addresses Senate This Afternoon --- Gives His Reasons

Deems Huge Gratuities at This Time Inadvisable—Speaks to Senate Only—Bill Not Before House.

Washington, July 12.—A small bonus to ex-service men at this time would be a poor palliative to the millions facing unemployment, President Harding declared today in asking the Senate to withhold action on the Soldier Bonus measure.

"It would be unthinkable that the administration could refuse the tax burden if the treasury is obligated to pay from three to five billion dollars," he said. Harding, declared that he would be ashamed of the Republic if it failed in its duties to those who fought to save it, but warned that immediate action on this "menacing effort to expend billions in gratuities will imperil all capacity to discharge our first obligations to those whom we must not fail to aid."

Recalled War Risk Expenditures
He recited the huge expenditures already made through the War Risk Insurance Bureau for disabled soldiers and promised more at an auspicious time.

Three things are essential for a return to normalcy, the President said. One is a lower tax. The second is a refunding of the war debt, and the third is an adjustment of our foreign loans.

"The over-burdening of the treasury now means positive disaster in years immediately before us," warned President Harding. "Merest prudence calls out in warning."

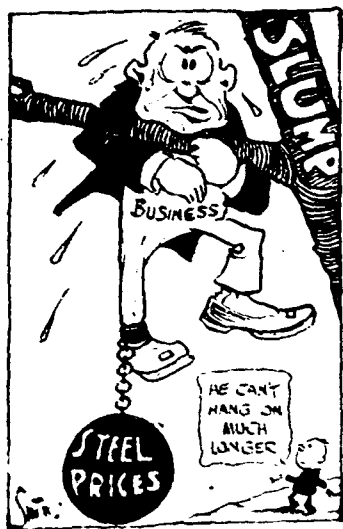

Appeal to Senate Only
President Harding was to carry his appeal for the deferment of the Soldier Bonus Bill direct to the Senate today in a formal message on the verge of the fight on the bill. Republican leaders in the Senate and President Harding decided the message would relate only to the Bonus Bill, although the President desired to include the Norris Bill creating a farm financial export corporation, but was dissuaded.

The message is to be delivered to the Senate only today as the Bonus Bill is not up before the House. If it had Harding would have included a general appeal to speed up taxation and tariff measures in both houses.

The President's course in singling out one house for the message, while unusual, has a precedent. Woodrow Wilson did this very thing when he addressed the Senate alone on the question of the Women's Suffrage Amendment to the Constitution.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON NAVAL BILL IS FINALLY ADOPTED

Washington, July 12.—The conference report on the naval appropriation bill finally was adopted yesterday by the Senate and House and the measure which carries funds for the navy for this fiscal year, was sent to the President. Technically, the navy has been without funds since July 1.

Disarmament is Looming Large in World Affairs

Foreign Premiers May Attend in Person—France Accepts.

MEET NOVEMBER 1

Washington, July 12.—The Disarmament Conference may be called to meet in Washington on Nov. 1, the third anniversary of the signing of the armistice it was indicated on an highest authority here today.

Lloyd George Will Attend

London, July 12.—Prime Minister Lloyd George will personally attend the disarmament conference at Washington, it was officially announced here this morning.

The rumor is strong in Paris reports that while France has not officially accepted the invitation, Premier Briand has declared his intention of attending the meeting if still in power.

France Accepts.
Paris, France, July 12.—France today accepted President Harding's invitation to participate in the proposed disarmament conference. No reservations were mentioned. The French Foreign Office informally telephoned the American representative that the French government would be "very happy" to accept the invitation.

MISSING LINER MAKES PORT TODAY

New York, N. Y., July 12.—The liner Callac reported last week as missing and which was feared to have been a victim of the mystery pirate ship today docked at Hoboken. The Captain said he had been cut off from wireless communication because of high static conditions of the atmosphere in the Caribbean sea.

RIOTING GOES ON IN IRELAND—MANY REPORTED KILLED

Anniversary of the Battle of Boyne Sees Disorders.

London, July 12.—Violence continued in the north of Ireland today despite the truce which went into effect yesterday at noon. Sniping was under way in Belfast as the bells tolled the beginning of the armistice.

Following two days serious rioting, after a night of violence the disorders increased with the dawn of the Orangeman celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. Sniping was augmented in several instances and mob violence increased. It was feared religious antagonism would be responsible for disorders in other parts of Ireland.

Week End Casualties Large.
The week end casualty list in Belfast was unofficially reported last as 20 killed and 110 wounded. To these today was added the death of a 19 year old Catholic youth shot by a sniper, and the injury of several civilians at the hands of the mob. As the gunman attack was in the process of organization police interfered and many rifle and revolver shots were exchanged. Firebugs, who have been responsible for the destruction of many homes were still busy early today.

AMERICA'S AIM IN DISARMAMENT DEAL REVEALED

Three Broad Lines of Nation's Policy Are Laid Down.

Washington, July 12.—America's aims in the proposed international disarmament conference were defined and outlined on high authority today. The aims were:

First, Removal of the sources of international friction necessary as a prelude to effective disarmament.
Second: Extension of the disarmament principles wherever possible to stop the use of gas, aircraft and other means of warfare.
Third: Adoption of principles for Siberia similar to our "open door" policy in China.

OFFICIALS DISCUSS PROCEEDURE FOR COMING MEETING

CONSENSUS OF OFFICIAL OPINION THAT HARDING WILL NOT TAKE AN ACTIVE PART—OTHER NAMES MENTIONED.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—The question of procedure brought up by the calling of the disarmament conference is under official consideration.

On the Job

Here's Charles A. Dawes on the job at Washington as director of the budget. His job is to cut down the waste and save taxpayers some money. The long clear is ever present.

Why The People Seek To Push Disarmament

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Wars, past, present and future, cost the United States nearly four billion dollars in the fiscal year just ended July 1, treasury department records show. Seventy-five cents of each dollar of the taxpayers went into bills arising from the war or preparation for war. Other nations are spending as great or a greater percentage of their income.

This explains why the people are bringing pressure to bear on their governments to accept President Harding's invitation for a disarmament conference.

Taxes collected during the past fiscal year amounted to $5,115,928,000, while payment for war purposes amounted to $3,836,928,000, without taking into account the millions paid out by the War Risk Bureau in pensions and scores of other expenditures from other departments not generally classed as conducting war branches of the government.

RUMOR CURRENT GRANT THOMPSON TO GET NEW POST

APPOINTMENT OF FORMER PROTHONOTARY TO BE COUNTY CONTROLLER NOW GOING THE ROUNDS HERE.

According to street rumor Governor William C. Spruill has decided to appoint ex-Prothonotary Grant H. Thompson as the first County Controller of Clearfield county.

This new office was created under the provisions of the Act of Assembly which provides that when any county is found to have reached or passed the hundred thousand mark in population the office of County Controller shall thereby have been created and the Governor may appoint or the qualified electors choose one of their number, properly qualified, for such position. Made on Recommendation of Senator Miller and Harry Boulton.

The appointment of Grant H. Thompson was made upon the recommendation of State Senator S. J. Miller, of Madera, and Harry Boulton, Esq., of Clearfield, who is recognized by the State Republican organization as its representative in Clearfield county.

Grant H. Thompson is a resident of Clearfield. He was elected Prothonotary of Clearfield county in 1899 and held the office for six years. His deputy was his brother Roll B. Thompson, who succeeded to the office, which he held for seven years.

At the close of his term of office Mr. Thompson retired from politics and engaged in the coal business in Cambria county for several years, but recently has been acting as paymaster for the Peale, Peacock and Kerr coal company in the lower end of the county.

TERRIFIC STORM SWEEPS DUBOIS—DOES DAMAGE

One Man Killed by Lightning—Wind 50 Miles an Hour.

A storm of terrific intensity swept over a restricted area in DuBois and immediate vicinity yesterday afternoon about 2:30, doing thousands of dollars worth of damage to trees and crops. A second storm came along later in the afternoon, following which it was somewhat cooler.

The first storm was accompanied by much thunder and lightning and was driven up by a wind that reached a velocity of over fifty miles per hour at times. A large quantity of hail also fell, and this was what did the most damage. Many gardens were ruined, particularly growing corn.

Lightning Kills One Man.
The only loss of life so far as learned as a result of the storms yesterday occurred during the comparatively mild demonstration along about 5 o'clock at which time Stiney Steneavick, resident of Shaft No. 1, was instantly killed when struck by a bolt.

Mr. Steneavick had returned from work and was sitting at the table with his wife and child when the storm broke. He got up to put down a window and just as he reached it there was a blinding flash and Mr. Steneavick dropped to the floor. Neighbors who hurried to the home examined the man and found that he was dead.

Much Damage Done.
On Maple avenue the home of William Plant was struck by lightning but no serious damage was done. Both school house at Oklahoma were damaged. A large silo on the farm of Luther Lowe was blown over. A big tree on the property of J. R. Osborn over a restricted area in DuBois and ed. A power line near the Corb marble works was a target for a bolt of lightning.

ANOTHER FLIVVER RIDES THE TIES

Last night about 9:30 o'clock a Ford car ran off the brick onto the Pennsylvania railroad tracks just above Market on Third street. The driver bumped along over ties and ballast to the alley crossing between Market and Cherry streets where he succeeded in getting back onto the street without a great deal of damage to his Henry.

RECENT RAINS PROVE TOO MUCH FOR TOWN SEWERS

Water Covers Low Streets—Cellars Are Flooded.

Clearfield, which has been so dry, elementally speaking, the past three months, was treated to a series of deluges since Saturday evening the nature and copiousness of which would no doubt have caused old Noah to look up the hatchet and nails were he around kicking about our baseball club just now. Saturday evening shortly after 9 o'clock the heaviest rain to hit this section in years dropped down upon us. Before the heavenly flood gates were closed two and three quarter inches of water had fallen, which was more than the total rainfall for the entire month of April and slightly less than the total rainfall for either May or June.

Sunday we were visited by a pretty fair rain, while last evening a downpour started about 5:30 and assumed the proportions of another miniature deluge before stopping. In last night's rainfall there was a total of 2.4 inches of water, according to the official record kept by H. F. Bridge, Sr.

Sewers Overtaxed
As a result of these terrific rains sewers and ditches all over town were taxed away beyond capacity and there is general complaint regarding the damage done. Lower Fourth street had from three to four feet of water over it the major part of Saturday night and the same condition maintained again last night.

Cellars Flooded
Cellars were flooded all over town and much damage done in the low lying sections.

The storm water made its way into the cellar at Kurtz Bros. tablet factory last evening and destroyed several hundred dollars worth of stock. Among the articles destroyed were about ten thousand school tablets.

Water also got into the cellar at Leitzinger Bros. store and did considerable damage to merchandise stored on the floor of the cellar.

American Legion Band Will Give Concert Tonight.

The Clearfield American Legion Band will give an entertaining concert on the bandstand at the Court House corner this evening beginning at 8 o'clock. The full band will participate.

Director H. Clark Thayer has prepared a splendid program and those music lovers who fail to hear this concert will miss a rare musical treat.

SOUTH FOURTH ST. PAVING STARTED MONDAY MORNING

Crew of Twenty in Charge of Foreman Emery Tackle Job.

The Highway Department of Council began the work of paving South Fourth street from Cherry street to Leavy avenue yesterday morning. The excavating is being done by a crew of twenty men under the direction of Foreman Emery.

The new foreman, who succeeds R. D. Sheeche, has had a great deal of experience in concrete work and had charge of the work for Dowler & Anderson on the Clearfield-Curwensville State road.

Mr. Sheeche resigned the position to look after the operation of a coal mine at Olanta in which he is interested.

The Fourth street paving will be of reinforced concrete and the stretch to be paved is fifteen hundred feet long.

TOM MUST HAVE HAD A GAY OLD TIME WITH BABE

We never knew "Sheriff" Tom Reilly to drink anything stronger than Moose Creek, but have some fear for his prohibition record after reading the alleged interview with the Second Ward guardian of the law which we clipped from Saturday's Pittsburgh Post:

"The elderberry crop up in my home county, Clearfield, has been sadly depleted this year, because m of the blossoms were picked by thirsty," said Thomas B. Reil Clearfield last night in the Penn hotel. "There is a big crop of elderberry wine as a result, however. The crows, which feed largely on the berries, have been diving off in droves because of their scarcity just at the time before the grain crop ripens and provides them food."

"The hungry crows, weak from fasting, sit on the farmers' fences, so famished even to eat. The farmer goes out with his hoe or baseball bat and knocks them down by the bushel basketful and feeds them to his hogs."

RAIN DOES NOT CURB COMMERCIAL CLUB ATTENDANCE

MEMBERS CROWD DINING ROOM TO HEAR THE EVENING'S PROGRAM.

Rain did not deter members of the Commercial Club Monday night who crowded the dining room for their regular meeting. In fact, as soon as the rain came up they came in such numbers that even mine host "Jordy" was overwhelmed and before the festivities were well under way every available inch of space in the private dining room set aside for the occasion was crowded.

Blindness Added To Sufferings Of Tiny Victim Of "Bogie Man" Myth

Pittsburgh, July 12.—The "bogie man" has taken the eyesight of Agnes Katherine Hughes, the pretty six year old creature paralyzed through fear upon being told that the "bogie man" awaited her in a darkened room. Today the misery of blindness was added to her paralytic body.

In less than a year, however, her sufferings will be ended as physicians say life cannot exist in her fragile body longer than that time.

Fear Paralyzes Tot

It was a year ago that little Agnes visited the home of a neighbor, a tiny quiverer trying for new delights. She entered a room in the home but when told the "bogie man" had his quarters there drew back in alarm and fell to the floor in hysterics.

A hurried trip to the hospital revealed the fact she was paralyzed beyond cure. From then on the "bogie man" awaited the tiny creature in every darkened corner.

Four drainings of the spine failed to effect a cure and today she was returned to her parents, blind and paralyzed.

Showed Talent

At the age of two the child had attained unusual accomplishments and a year later was well versed in three languages. Another year and she showed promise of becoming a talented dancer. Now she is back in her tiny cradle, reaching her arms forth in darkness, unknowingly drawing closer and closer to the end.

OFFICIALS DISCUSS

Today despite the fact the actual gathering of the delegations is still some months away.

Leading in the speculation is what part President Harding will take in the conference and who will be appointed to represent this government. While no announcement of the course to be followed has been made, the general favorite seems to be that the President will take no active part, leaving it to the delegates from this nation and advising them in secret.

Appointment Causes Speculation It would probably take the form of the appointment of four men to represent this government. In this case Secretary Hughes would probably head the American delegation.

There would probably be a senator or the delegation and the names of Knox and Lodge are mentioned. In this connection Nicholas Murray Butler and Elihu Root are also heard as other members. It is also possible that one Democrat would be appointed, bringing names of William Jennings Bryan and Robert Lansing former Secretary of State into mention.

Easy to Check Sneeze.

As many know, sneezing may be averted by pressing firmly upon the upper lip with the fingers. The "why" of this is that by so doing we deaden the impression made up a certain branch of the "fifth nerve," sneezing being a reflex action excited by some slight impression made upon that nerve. Proof of this is seen in the fact that sneezing never takes place when the nerve mentioned is paralyzed, even though the sense of smell be fully retained.

Hubby wears Bridal Wreath, Too

FRESH MUSHROOMS UP TO DATE.

We may now begin to look in the fields and pastures for the delicious mushrooms. The following are a few of the delectable dishes which may be prepared with them:

Stuffed Mushrooms—Take the even sized mushrooms, remove the stems, peel the caps and fill a mushroom cap with chopped chicken, beef tongue, truffles and cream, either of the meats or both. Butter a pan and set the stuffed mushrooms therein; cover with a mushroom of the same size, add a little lemon juice, a dash of orange juice and cover, then cook in a slow oven for 12 minutes. Serve on toast. To the juice in the pan add a little meat glaze, a pinch of minced parsley, and pour over the mushrooms.

Mushrooms Eugene—Chop one-half pound of fresh peeled mushrooms; put into a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter and let them stew over a slow fire; the stems from half a pound of mushrooms may be used economically, using the caps by sauteing them in butter, and dish them up on squares of bread fried in butter. To the chopped mushrooms now add one-fourth cupful of white sauce and one-half cupful cream; season with salt, paprika, and pour around the mushrooms.

Mushrooms Manhattan—Cut six or eight good-sized mushrooms in squares and cook them in butter; add three ounces of well cleaned oyster crabs; when nearly cooked add a quarter of a cup of white sauce, a dash of fruit juice and the yolks of two eggs; season highly and put a tablespoonful of mixture into china ramekins and fill with the following: To a pint of puree of mushrooms add the whites of three eggs whipped to a stiff froth. Cook six to eight minutes in a moderate oven. To prepare the mushrooms chop them, cook in butter, add cream, add egg to bind, season to taste.

Jellies—Dissolve two glasses of jelly in three pints of boiling water; when cold add the juice of a lemon and sugar, if needed.

SHE TOOK HER FRIEND'S ADVICE

Now is in the Best of Health
Because she took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Mich.—"I was not feeling well for several years and never was able to eat any breakfast and always complained of a headache or tired feeling which at times required me to stop my work and rest. I have never had a physician and never took any medicine for it until years were recommended to me by a neighbor whom I used to visit frequently. I took four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am in the best of health and enjoy doing my work every moment of the day. It surely put life and 'pep' into my system."—Mrs. L. M. DARRAS, 46 Howard St., Detroit, Michigan.

It is not always in business that a woman is forced to give up her work on account of ill health. It is quite as often the woman who does her own work at home. When backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when that bearing-down sensation attacks you, when you are nervous and blue, the one great help for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

New England Place Names.

An interesting set of New England place names is drawn from the Bible. In these names, quite as much as in those brought from the home land, the early settlers expressed their deepest selves. Hebron, Gilead, Lebanon, Canaan, Bethlehem, Sharon, Mt. Carmel, Goshen, and Jerusalem are found in Connecticut alone. The names of three women in the parish register of one of these towns were Obolence, Silence, and Mindwell. Early, these people had never read, or at least believed, Shakespeare's "What's in a name?"

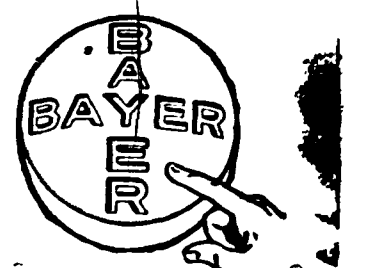

Off to France

Myron T. Herrick snapped on board the S. S. La France on his way to Paris to assume the post of United States ambassador. Herrick occupied that post under the Taft regime and proved to be the most popular envoy at Paris. He now succeeds Ambassador Wallace. Herrick was lieutenant governor and governor of Ohio and was defeated as the Republican candidate for senator.

BUSINESS AND TRADE

News of Local Interest
With Special Attention to Coal, Clay and Brick Trade

THE WEATHER VANE
OF INDUSTRY

News Notes Chronicling the Trend of Industrial Activities on Which Depends the Immediate and Future Market for Coal.

For the most part production and trade show continued hesitation, according to the monthly survey of business conditions by the Guaranty Trust Co., of New York. "In some localities, however," the survey continues, "the volume of retail transactions, allowances being made for the lower price levels, or exceeds that of the corresponding period last year. Appreciable industries which were among the first to undergo readjustment are giving evidence of increased activity."

"Nevertheless, it has become more clearly evident that the spurt of activity in some lines of production in the Spring, was, as pointed out in the April number of the survey, merely of a seasonal character. The expectation of an early upturn in business based upon the belief that the increased production in these industries would be sustained was not well founded. It is doubtless a good omen that the scope of the necessary industrial readjustment is now much better understood."

"Improvement in underlying conditions upon which a sustained revival of business must be based, however, continues. Wages are being further adjusted, prices declines are less abrupt, and the bases of credit are being further strengthened through reductions in so-called frozen loans and the strengthening of bank reserves. Accumulated stocks of goods in many lines are being reduced, affording the bases for larger production in the future.

"Unemployment in general continued to increase in May according to statistics compiled by the Department of Labor. The net decrease in the number of employees of representative firms last month, as compared with April, was approximately one-half of 1 per cent. Preliminary reports for the manufacturing industries of New York State indicate a reduction of about 2 per cent in employment in May, as compared with April. Strikes are responsible in part for the increase in unemployment."

CALIFORNIA LUMBER
MILLS CLOSED

Slow market conditions are blamed for the closing down of two of the largest lumber mills in Fresno (Cal.) district. The plants are those of the Prescott Brick & Lumber Co., and the Rount Lumber Co. The owners stated it was uncertain when they will resume operations, though it was thought that it might be several months, or when a more active market permits.

KATTOWITZ ONE OF BIG SILESIAN
MINING CENTERS

WAS FORMERLY PART OF
"WILD AND WOOLY
WEST" OF THE CONTI-NENT—BESEIGED FOR

Washington, D. C., July 12.—"Kattowitz, besieged for weeks because of the fighting between Poles and Germans of Upper Silesia, is one of those cities which blossom on the long stems of mining shafts, deep rooted but exotic," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"It is one of the most fascinating phases of geography, this matter of why cities are born flourish and sometimes perish. From ancient times ocean harbors and navigable rivers, forts and crossroads of trade routes have been magnets for human population. But Kattowitz and its close-clustered sister cities of Silesia are modern phenomena, sprung up like mushrooms among coal and iron mines."

"Quantity production and standardization also seem to be modern attributes of cities. Kattowitz is akin to its neighbors, Konigsbutter and Beuthen, along a straight line to the northwest, and to Gleiwitz, Zabrze and Zaborze to the west. Zabrze retains that name on the map though some of its Germanic inhabitants, at one stage of the World War, thought it would sound sweeter if it were called Hindenburg, and they petition for that change."

Once in "Wild and Woolly" East. "Kattowitz is about one hundred miles to the southeast of Breslau, another city of Upper Silesia. Once Breslau was the frontier city of European civilization. Even in the century that Columbus sailed westward, all of Europe beyond Breslau was the wild and woolly east of the continent."

"When railway and waterway improvements, telephone and telegraph bound Europe into a new economic unity Breslau emerged in another role—that of a railroad center, shipping place at the navigable head of the Oder, and focal point for a rich mining and manufacturing province. Even in the century of America's war of independence Upper Silesia was a wooded, sparsely populated no man's land that no nation would have expended energy to fight for. Now it is the western Pennsylvania of Europe."

Silesian Cities Weaned From Breslau.

"If you will draw a triangle on a map of Silesia, with Gleiwitz, Myslowitz and Tarnowitz at the apex point, a triangle which would include Kattowitz, you will mark off an area about one-sixth the size of Rhode Island in which three-quarters of a million people had their homes before 1914. Nor was this region affected by the war."

"As these Silesian cities along the borderland of the New Poland have developed they have ceased clinging to Breslau's skirts. They have become more self dependent by railroad lines and by a canal which meets the Oder at Kosel to which point the river has been made navigable."

Breeding Foxes in Captivity.

Approximately 4,849 silver-black foxes are being bred in captivity in the United States, according to reports to the bureau of biological survey, United States Department of Agriculture, from 215 fox ranches, representing a value in animals and equipment estimated at $4,279,830. All reports have not yet been received, and conservative estimates place the number of silver-black fox in this country at from 5,000 to 6,000.

LEGIONAIRES TO SIT ON BENZINE
BOARD AT BLOIS

New York, July 12.—"Bloody" A. E. F. "Benzine Board" will sit at "Bloody" this summer. "Bloody," more correctly spelled Blois, is in France and is familiar to every member of the A. E. F. It was at Blois during the war that the mysterious institution of the United States Army known as the reclassification board had its headquarters. The reclassification board in army parlance was the "Benzine board."

A summons to "Bloody" might have meant the inconvenience of arising at sunrise to be shot or it might have meant a promotion or a demotion. The uncertainty was dreadful. Given a choice a soldier would have selected no man's land to Blois any time.

It will be different this summer. The new "Benzine board" will be composed of members of the American Legion party sailing from New York August 3 for a tour of France as guests of the French Government. There will be 250 Legionnaires in the party, representing every state and every branch of the former A. E. F. The party will be led by Franklin D'Olier, former national commander.

The Legion delegation will go to Blois to attend the dedication of the statue of Joan of Arc, a gift of the Joan of Arc Committee of New York City. And while at "Bloody" the Legionnaires will invade the old headquarters of the reclassification board and stage a burlesque on the famous "Benzine" court. The entertainment is even now selecting a cast and writing the lines for the burlesque.

ODDS AND ENDS
AND THINGS

"By Skinny"

Rev. Geo. W. Richards, of the Reformed Theological Seminary, Lancaster, Pa., told the Christian Endeavor Convention in New York City that the American millionaire must be evolved to extinction. The Rev. Geo. W. is not a Socialist either, but here is what he told the Endeavorers:

"Although the enormous fortunes of many of our multi-millionaires have been put to good use in education and philanthropy, we must progress to a political state where it will be impossible to have millionaires."

"I do not believe in dictatorship nor am I in sympathy with Socialism, but I do believe in a co-operative democracy in which altruism prevails, and not in a competitive democracy in which selfishness prevails."

Dr. Richards said it was a great task to evangelize the world, but a greater task to Christianize the world.

PEACE IN IRELAND

For the first time, practically speaking, since English forces invaded Ireland in 1179, there is peace in the little green isle, both sides to the century-old contention agreeing to suspend hostilities pending a settlement for all time of the intestine strife and warfare, which all liberty loving people the world over hope will result in dominion government for Ireland. To give the uninformed an idea of the awful destruction in Ireland the past year we present herewith the following statement:

"According to an official British report on Sinn Fein outrages in Ireland, 261 persons had been killed and 446 wounded in 1920. This report did not include eighty-two civilians slain during the rioting in Ulster from June to September 1920."

The official report divided the casualties as follows: Policemen killed 165; wounded, 225; soldiers killed, 53; wounded, 118; civilians killed, 43; wounded 103. The report added that all the civilians had been killed by Sinn Feiners.

As regards property damage and raids, the report gives these figures: Court Houses destroyed, 68; Royal Irish Constabulary barracks destroyed 330; damaged, 163; raids on mails, 998; raids on coast guard stations and lighthouses, 46; raids for arms, 2,801; raids on revenue officers 109.

A report issued last March by Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, says forty-nine persons have been killed while trying to escape from custody, 2,079 are interned and 953 are in jail.

The report of the Commission of the Committee of One Hundred which went to Ireland to make an investigation declared hundreds of persons had been killed by Crown forces and immense property damage done, but no specific figures on either score were given.

Press despatches from Ireland since Jan. 1 indicate that hundreds more have been killed and wounded in fighting although no official estimates are obtainable from either side. The property damage since the active rebellion started is estimated far up in the millions, the Cork fire of Dec. 12, 1920, alone having caused destruction conservatively at $15,000,000.

The human animal is a rare bird, as was demonstrated at the ball game yesterday afternoon when fifteen hundred people, including three police officers lost all interest in a perfectly good baseball game while the scraps among the bleacherites along the third base line. But then it was ever thus.

With several big league baseball stars cavorting about the local diamond in a single game leads one to remark that we are cultivating expensive baseball tastes "up in the sticks" on these mountains. Three or four of the men engaged on the teams in yesterday's game were up

THE BATTLE OF BUSINESS.

In an address before the Commercial Club Monday night Henry Powell struck a keynote when he suggested that the business man who comes out victorious in the 1921 trade battle will be the "fighter", the merchant who systematically goes after his opponent, Old Hard Times. The remark that "the man who wins will be the man who fights hardest in the clinch" was undoubtedly truer than is generally realized.

Looking the battle of business to the recent championship contest at Jersey City is all right with the single exception its all wrong in the ending. The principals in that encounter have reaped their reward, while the majority of those who figure in the marts of the world today are just wondering what their reward will be. And from present indications it will not be such a juicy monetary slice of the cash proceeds as went to the two battlers who faced each other for 12 minutes within the squared circle. It is rather that each and every one of the nation's business interests in battling against time and the bell, hoping for the end of the round to come without a knock out and looking forward to the time they can relapse and get ready for a battle that will prove more profitable.

Nothing can be more timely than to say that the business which can stand the hammering in the clinches, and in the tight corners, is the one which must come out ahead in the struggle. Brute strength coupled with an amazing exhibition of systematic training won the boxing crown for the American battle. It will win for American business men who take the lesson to heart. Brute strength, as characterized by sound financial backing and investment, coupled with a systematic re-arrangement of their sales forces will without question prove a victorious combination.

In the past two years it has been the buyer who has been on the defensive and battling for the bell. Now the tables are turned and the odds are on the buyer. It is unquestionably now a buyers' market. The business man and merchant cannot loaf in his corner and expect his customers to seek the ropes to avoid a knockout punch. It is up to him to cover up and learn a new method of attack to carry the fight to the other corner and get the other fellow to loosen up. A big purse is in sight. It is the stability of American markets and American methods of merchandising. To win it the American merchant will have to systematize his attack—his selling force and personnel.

THE ECONOMY OF THE TABLE.

The extent to which the American people need advice and education as to how to live economically may be left to the expert economist to figure out. Actual experience, however, seems to demonstrate that the best teacher is that experience itself. Still, any teaching that will help to impress upon the popular mind the necessity of sensible economy along all lines will not come amiss. In the matter of food, for instance, there is a lot to learn, not especially as to prices. Prices these days are self-evident. We all have an intimate acquaintance with them and a knowledge of them that is as complete as it is unpleasant.

But it can be helpful to be instructed about the family food budget and the diets that are the most nutritious and most economical. There is plenty of popular ignorance as to these things. The Leland Stanford University, with the laudable purpose of enlightenment along those lines, has established a department of food research, and the investigations therein are to be included in the regular graduate studies. This feature of education has been and continues to be a valuable adjunct in the management of our public schools. A knowledge of the nutritive qualities of food, correct measurement of quantities in the preparation of meals and practical information as to the use of edibles with relation to their costs, are really matters of vital concern to people generally. Suppose, for instance, a great hotel were to have on hand a graduate and therefore an expert in food research in all its ramifications; it seems sensible to believe that he might be able to reduce the cost of food purchases by a scientific selection of varieties and a proper watchfulness over the cuisine preparation of them. Here might be found a means of appreciable decrease in hotel expenses, with a proportionate decrease in prices to patrons.

WE LAUGH AT CASEY

Casey—"Phwat's a Bank?"
Maloney—"Well, it works like this: For instance Oi puts money in the Bank and ye draws it out."

Casey—"But how does the Bank make anything?"

Maloney—"Sure an' it's like this, Casey. They either knock down part of phwat Oi put in or short change ye on phwat ye draw out."

We all like to laugh at the ignorance of Casey and his friend, but it is a fact that nearly all the people would be better off if they knew more about Banks and what the Banks can do for them.

This is the first of a series of "Little Banking Stories" which will attempt to explain the many helpful things your Bank can do for you if you will only give it the opportunity.

PAID LARGE SUM FOR PRIVILEGES OF OPIUM MONOPLY

By CHARLES EDWARD HOGUE,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Hankow, China, (By Mail.)—Half a million dollars monthly tribute will be paid to the provincial authorities of Hunan province for a monopoly of the opium traffic there, it was announced today, as a result of an auction conducted by the state government. Hsia Tou-ying, a former Tuchun (military governor) of this province of Hupeh, made the winning bid.

Refusing to recognize the prohibition of opium traffic provided in the criminal code of the Republic of China, the provincial authorities have taken advantage of the chaotic conditions existing throughout the nation to revive the drug trade to provide revenue for the maintenance of their local armies. Each province has its own army subject to the call of the central government at Peking or the Southern government at Canton only when it suits the whim of the local party in power.

For a time it appeared that some progress was being made towards ending the growing of opium in China. But when it was learned that foreign interests had reaped immense fortunes from the disposal of the drug stocks on hand at the time of the "clean up," the natives rebelled against the new order of things and revived the industry.

The Grand Jury also recommended that Harry Brooks and his wife Margaret be held as accomplices. Benjamin Stokes, the "master mind" behind the plot is still at large.

SEARCHING FOR THE LOST MINE

Edmonton, Alberta, July 12. (United Press.)—An expedition was being organized here today to search for the "lost gold mine" of Lost River.

The "lost mine" has long been one of the romantic traditions of the North and is believed to be fabulously rich. Apparently there have been only two men who knew how to find it. The one, a wandering Indian from the Mackenzie River district, came into Fort St. John's with a gold nugget as big as a walnut and though he could not talk any dialect, understood by local whites or Indians, he indicated by signs that he had found the lump in the dry bed of a stream to the northwest.

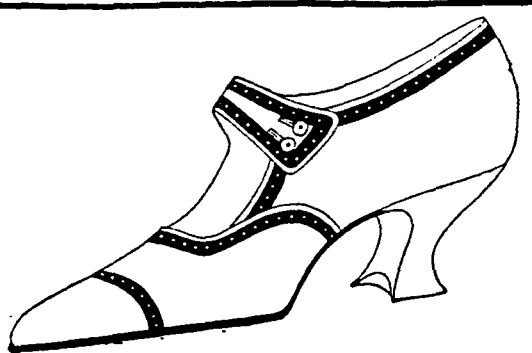

The other was a white trapper who returned from period trips into the wilderness with a quantity of coarse gold. Each time he spent his treasure lavishly and then disappeared again, outwitting the efforts of trackers who tried to trail him to the source of his wealth. He was found frozen to death on the trail one day and took his secret to the grave.

The expedition now being organized will proceed on the assumption that the mine is in the bed of a dry river, known as the Lost River, because it no longer contains water except after heavy rains, and the river bed will be prospected thoroughly.

OLD JINX IS PERCHING ON CLEARFIELD'S BASEBALL BANNER PHILIPSBURG WINS 3-1

Locals Get Off in Front But Are Overhauled— Burgers Win Out—Fast Game.

We have always been a glutton for work, but this thing of writing up these Philipsburg-Clearfield baseball games is getting even a little too strenuous for yours truly with our own team on the short end. We got off to a bad start in the first game, and had that excuse with which to comfort ourselves. Our hired men simply handed the second game to Scott's crew, and even that allowed us some little leeway, but in yesterday's game we can find no alibi and must admit that Philipsburg won the game on its merits, and deserved the victory after a hard-fought battle.

Sufficient as to that. Now for our side. The visitors won yesterday's ball game at the park because they had the baseball luck, that is the breaks of the game favored them in every instance. They saw every opportunity and took one hundred per cent advantage of it and—won.

There has been so much talk of an unchristian like nature in explaining the defeat that we feel like harking back to our Sunday School days for something in the nature of what they used to tell us was a parable. Having safely meandered back that far we just want to add that we accept what the baseball Fate's hand out to us, where Philipsburg is concerned, as gracefully as we can, firm in the belief that "whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth."

Again, so much for that. We are also confidentially informed by one of our sober, sedate, church-going fans, that he don't believe we will ever be able to beat Philipsburg until we are able to start up our brewery. That is not original with us but might be worth looking into.

Now For the Game.

The baseball game at the park yesterday afternoon between Philipsburg and Clearfield was without doubt the closest, most exciting and most interesting game of the present season. Despite the threatening weather more than fifteen hundred people turned out to witness it, and when the last Clearfield batter was out and the score stood Philipsburg, 3; Clearfield, 1, everybody felt they had received their money's worth and had witnessed a real ball game.

Both Teams Stuffed.

The breaking up of the Franklin Independents on Saturday allowed each team to secure top notch players. The visitors had Gallia, the old Washington pitcher, and Yerkes, another big league star in their lineup, while our own were strengthened by the addition of Harris, Anderson and Russell of the Franklins. Gallia did the pitching for Scott's forces, and after the first inning was absolute master of the situation. He had the breaks with him and was lucky in getting away with it.

Taylor pitched for the locals and twirled a fine game. His pitching was even better than that of the ex-Franklin star, but old Demon Luck was with the enemy.

In the opening inning Philipsburg went down in order. Harris tossed Mahaffey out at first. Loudon's hit was handled by the agile Seigfried in the greatest play of the game. The field around second was very slippery on account of the shower just before the game started and when Loudon's sizzler darted down between first and second Seigfried pounced upon it like a cat on a mouse. As he grasped the ball, "Seig's" feet flew out from under him and he skidded on his side but managed to toss the ball to first ahead of the runner. Yerkes' fly was taken care of by Harris.

Kane opened for Clearfield with a single. Zerfuh sacrificed him to second and on Seigfried's hit Kane counted with the first run of the game. Despite the heavy going Seigfried was ordered to try to steal second. Cool-ey's peg nailed him easily. Harris singled. Anderson and Farrell were given bases on balls. Russell hit one down to Loudon at second and he tossed to first retiring the side.

Both Sides Blanked Till Fourth.

After the first both sides were blanked until the fourth. In this round Loudon, first man up was walked by Umpire O'Donnell. He went to second on Yerkes' sacrifice which was handled by Seigfried. Ullery's double scored the manager and after Eichensier had fanned Mike Fagan cracked out a second double and Ullery counted.

Real Pitchers' Battle.

Gallia was in several tight places as the game rolled along, and although our own threatened several times, luck and air-tight support saved his bacon and we went scoreless. Seigfried was caught at the plate in the fifth, after the bases had been filled with none out, and that was as close as we came to tying it up.

Taylor was pitching even better than Gallia, despite the unfavorable breaks, and in the seventh had three enemy runners on the cushions with none out and then retired the side without a score.

Last Run On Two Errors.

The last run was scored by Philipsburg on errors. Loudon opened the eighth with a single and got around to third on a sacrifice fly and Farrell's error at first. Eichensier was out on a pop to the catch and while Fagan was batting Hopper had a passed ball and Loudon counted with run No. 3.

Features of the Game.

The outstanding feature of the game, aside from the pitching of Taylor and Gallia, was the great work of Manager Bill Loudon for the visitors. He was a veritable stone wall on the defense and scored two of the three runs for his side. Cooley's catching was also superb, while Seigfried, Harris and Taylor did great work in the field for the locals.

It sure was a great game.

Picked Up Along Third Base Line

Ump Francis O'Rourke was over from Philipsburg to take in the ball game as a spectator. He said he saw enough to make him feel safe in saying that they all miss them occasionally.

One of the prettiest plays of the game was Russell's handling of a hit to right and his perfect return of the ball to Catcher Hopper, cutting off an alien runner at the plate. Pitcher Taylor dropped right down on the ground in the pitcher's box so as not to interfere with the fielder in making the play. It was perfect baseball.

Philipsburg's sporting fraternity lost an elegant opportunity to "clean up" in yesterday's game. The cause of the trouble was diagnosed by a local veterinarian as "congealed pediculus," more commonly styled "cold feet." The burger sports sure were afraid of the curs and when asked to back their team only wanted 2 to 1. The whole "kettle of chubs" put up about $200 at or near these odds, and the most of this coin was carried away by Osceola sports. Those Philipsburgers are a game bunch with anything better than an even break.

It was worth the price of admission alone to watch Joe Harris in action. The way he stands up at the plate and looks them over may safely be styled an epic pose. Then he hits that old p.h. square on the nose.

A couple of visiting fans, who had copiously violated the 18th Amendment allowed their "Dutch courage" to get them a smack or two on the kisser during the progress of the game. One fellow insulted a local fan and when the Clearfielder landed on him, another Philipsburger attempted to horn in and he was in turn taken in charge by a second Clearfield huskie. The local and State police promptly "brought order out of chaos" and the game went on.

COAL MINER-RETURNED TO STEADY WORK AGAIN

No More Layoffs for Otto Deitman—
Nerv-Worth Restored Health.

"Some days I could not work all day because of the misery I was in from gas on my stomach and belching, and I couldn't eat anything at all. Sleep at night was unknown to me. I have taken a bottle of Nerv-Worth and now I am able to work steady, and I can certainly recommend Nerv-Worth for your money."

what it has done for me." Thus wrote Mr. Deitman who resides in the West End, Pottsville, Pa. The above statement tells its own story. If you suffer from nervous or stomach disorders, a general run-down condition, or their attending ills, give Nerv-Worth a trial. Remember, if your first trial bottle is not satisfactory, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

CANADA AFTER CHEESE MAKING CHAMPIONSHIP

Saskatoon, Sask., July 12. (United Press.)—Holland has a new rival in the cheese-making industry. Canada has stepped into fourth position among the producing nations and its 3,300 dairy factories are rapidly increasing the output. Thirty-six million dollars is the sum returned to Canadian farmers for cheese exported during the last year. Most of these exports went to England, long one of Holland's best customers.

THE GRANARY

A Column of News and Timely Topics for the Man Who Feeds the World

REGULATING THE BOARD OF TRADE

We find a pretty general belief among farmers that the Board of Trade affects the grain market unfavorably. Yet enough farmers, or alleged farmers, were found in Illinois to block, for a time at least, the passage of the Lantz bill against the Chicago grain exchange. The Tinscher bill, pending before Congress, is a merely regulatory measure, but Julius Barnes says it will "hurt the farmer instead of helping him." Mr. Barnes, who was wartime head of the U. S. Grain Corporation, is entitled to an expert opinion, though he has been accused of prejudice in favor of the speculative interests. The fact is that nobody knows just what may happen to the wheat market in case these bills are passed. Our own notion is that things will go on much as they do now. Laws against big business never seem very effective. And laws designed to bolster up business, big or little, seem equally unavailing. It takes something more than a statute to change fundamental conditions.—Farm Life.

THIS IS THE MONTH

To thin the fruit.
To wean the spring pigs.
To plant cucumbers for pickles.
To keep plenty of fresh water before the chickens.

To forget such things as coats and starched white collars.

To keep off cabbage worms; hell-bore is effective and non-poisonous.

To spray the cows to keep the flies away. It means relief for you as well.

To keep the milk pails clean. An ounce of sanitation is many times worth a whole can of milk these hot days.

To stir the corn rows after every rain. Light cultivation now means barrels of moisture saved from evaporation.

To take those long pulls from the jug of cold water, and to be thankful no reformer has yet tried to prohibit "Adam's Ale."

To keep sharp all hoes and other edge tools. A few strokes of a file or turns of the grindstone mean hours of lessened labor.

To be patient with the boy in the field these days. Remember there are many rows of corn ahead of him yet to be hoed before he is an old man.—Farm Life.

WANTED—A CIRCUS

GOVERNMENT
The homegrown philosopher was watching the circus, noting with admiration the perfect economy of time and motion and expense with which everything necessary was efficiently accomplished.

"Gosh," he remarked, "I wish this government could be run by a circus man of the Barnum-Bailey or Ringling Bros. type for about ten years. We would have taxes so low

BABE RUTH SLAMS OUT 32ND HOMER

Chicago, July 12.—Babe Ruth clouted his thirty-second home run of the season yesterday in the sixth inning of the Yankees' game with the Whitesox. There was one man on base and Kerr was pitching.

we wouldn't notice them, public service would be improved about a hundred and eighty-three per cent, if not more, and political scandals would be extinct.

"Suppose, for instance, the government had on its hands the job of tearing up this circus outfit and transporting it to another town; it would take eleven weeks at the very swiftest, about seventeen million dollars, four strikes, nine investigations and a change of administration to complete it. The men who started it would have become so utterly disgraced and disliked by the time they had the big top down that the head of the government would be enthusiastically removed and a new one elected sure. The same gang would never be permitted to move the tent again or set up the outfit in another town.

"Now watch those razorbacks take down that iron fence around the ring where the lions have been performing. It took them seven minutes by my watch to get down every one of those panels and pile them neatly between rings ready for the next performance.

"Suppose the government had had that to do! They would have had twice as many men; there would have been at least six bosses and under bosses. A walking delegate of the cage removers' union No. 10 would have come along and examined the label on the overalls of one of those workmen and called the others off the job on the ground that one man's pants were made by a scab shop. Gompers would have been summoned hurriedly to the White House to consult with the President and after a time the workman would have a new and union made pair of overalls or a man with the right kind of denim bifurcations would be in his place. By that time it would be found that one other of the men had been black-balled by a union in Omaha, one time, or that he had voted for Cox, and that the work could not proceed until he showed his union card or left the lot. No open shop stuff in this circus! Did the government want to go on record as favoring the discrediting of the unions or denying the right to collective bargaining? Then let one congressman would manage to hold up the work by act of legislation because he had not had his rakeoff from the contractor. The lions would starve to death the audience get tired and go home and the circus disband before that cage could be dismantled and the ring prepared for the elephant stuff.

"Yes, sir, this government ought to be in the hands of circus men for a few years. They could get more things done, more efficiently and with less delay and expense, than could any other set of men that could be found anywhere in the universe. Also, and this isn't a pun, the public would have a far better show."—Strickland Gillilan in Farm Life.

The almanac and the family Bible constituted the home library some two hundred years ago. WIDOW'S OFFER TO END TRIAL IS REJECTED

MRS. KABER REPORTED TO HAVE AGREED TO PLEAD
GUILTY TO SECOND DEGREE MURDER—WAS READY TO BARE LIFE SECRETS.

Cleveland, July 12.—Mrs. Eva Katherine Kaber today was prepared to bare her life secrets in an attempt to escape the death chair on a charge of murdering her husband, Daniel Kaber, a wealthy Lakewood publisher, as the defense opened today. Relatives of Mrs. Kaber had been summoned to testify and with this purpose in view will tell their life account of the widow in an attempt to prove Mrs. Kaber has been insane since birth, and her mental condition aggravated into "insane hate" by alleged practices on the part of her husband, Daniel Kaber, that were objectionable to Mrs. Kaber as a wife. Mrs. Kaber will probably take the stand in her own defense Wednesday or Thursday.

Prepared to Bare Life Secrets.
Cleveland, O., July 12.—An offer by attorneys for Mrs. Katherine Eva Kaber that would have brought a speedy end to her murder trial was reported rejected by Prosecutor Stanton today. The offer was said to have been made in a conference this morning between Judge Barnum Stanton and defense attorneys. Those attending refused to make any statements but it was reported, however, that Mrs. Kaber's attorneys had offered to enter a plea of guilty to second degree murder.

Undertaker On Stand
The first witness for the defense to take the stand today was Roy Daniel, the undertaker who prepared the body for burial. He said a hardening powder was used in embalming but whether or not it contained arsenic he could not say. He was placed on the stand in an effort to disprove the contention of the prosecution that sufficient arsenic to kill 20 men had been placed in Kaber's food by Mrs. Kaber.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even firey itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Fentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

Mahalak, according to the police, without a bathing suit had plunged into the river, despite protests by River Patrolman Edward Van Duzen and the police say, was swimming across the river to escape capture by the patrolman. His body was recovered a short time afterward and taken to the county morgue.

IF BACKACHEY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take a glass of Salts to flush out Kidneys
Drinking plenty water

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Less meat, drink lots of water also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

MAKE COLONIES PAY IS PLAN OF ITALIAN DUKE

By HENRY WOOD.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Rome, (By Mail).—The Duke of the Abruzzi is again putting his personal services at the disposition of the crown in a serious effort to develop Italy's colony of Somaliland, down near the Red Sea.

He has already been there several months and Italy is now beginning to receive some of the fruits of his efforts.

Up to the present time, Italy's colonies have been much more of a liability to her than a dividend-paying asset. They consist principally of Tripoli and Cirenaica in the northern part of Africa and Erytrea and Italian Somaliland in the eastern part. None of them have ever reached a point of development to render them an important factor in Italy's economic life, as is the case with the colonies of nearly all the other European countries.

This situation Italy is now trying to remedy and the Duke of the Abruzzi's expedition into Somaliland is one of the first steps in that direction. He is putting into the task all of the scientific knowledge as well as patriotic zeal that characterized his polar voyages and his other undertakings on behalf of Italy.

He will remain in the Somaliland until October, when he expects to be able to render the government a complete record on the economic possibilities of the colony. One of his principal tasks is the supervising of the work already under way for rendering navigable the Ubei Sebeli river for its entire length. This will then serve as the means of transportation necessary for the material for putting large tracts of the colony under cultivation.

Huge quantities of agricultural machinery and other material have already reached Mogadiscio. This is being distributed over the colony as fast as means of transportation can be developed.

Aside from about sixty white workmen whom he has with him, the Duke of the Abruzzi is depending exclusively on indigenous labor for carrying out the various projects to place the territory under cultivation and render it an asset to Italy's national life.

LITTLE BELGIUM ALSO HAS HER RAIL TROUBLES

Brussels, July 12. (United Press).—Remarkable strides have been made by Belgium in the restoration of its railways.

When the Germans evacuated the country, it was found that they had destroyed 1,419 bridges and tunnels, damaged 194 stations, crippled 30 electric generating stations and 226 railway stores.

Since the armistice the Belgians have relaid 1,400 miles of railroad track and rebuilt 67 stations. Locomotives have been increased from 279 to 5,171, while the freight trains running today exceed by thirty per cent. those of the pre-war figure.

At the armistice there were about 305 freight trucks on the road daily. At the beginning of this year the daily average had grown to 16,754 trucks. The Belgian state railways are today running a daily traffic of 1,500 passenger trains and about 1,950 freight trains.

Fares have gone up threefold, freight rates the same, while the railway is losing thousands of pounds every week.

members for a short discussion of business. Prominent in this was the decision to appoint the civic affairs committee, reinforced by a special committee of three to co-operate with the Rotary Club in securing beautification of the banks of the Susquehanna as it flows through Clearfield.

Favor Improvement.

The Club also went on record as urging immediate action toward having the entrance to the Pennsylvania freight depot improved.

Two interesting talks were on the program, the first an address by Attorney L. R. J. Finnerty, who lived up to expectations. Speaking on "My First Impressions of Clearfield," he declared the thing which appeared most needed here was a public library.

Henry Powell, who followed, injected additional life into the program by his clever handling of the subject "What the Year 1921 Has in Store for Fighters." Likening business to the recent championship boxing show at Jersey City, he laid down several axioms that seemed especially appropriate.

Small "Home Library."

Many years ago the old-fashioned "almanack" was regarded as a household necessity. Hutchins' almanac issued in 1759 for the ensuing year contained the usual ephemera of the sun, moon, planets and zodiacal signs. Its literary offering consisted of 14 select pieces of poetry and 10 moral essays. "Likewise the following useful receipts, which might be of great utility, viz.: A sure cure for rheumatism; a cure for the most malignant fevers and a cure for the cough."
